ALAIN GILLES

— A healthy workspace is a place that doesn't feel like a workplace but rather as a place where people share different moments of life. The new workspace is about the ability to be creative, to enrich ideas by sharing them with others, but also about being able to focus 100 percent when needed! It is very much about combining different worlds and different social interactions into a common space. When designing products for the new office I think a lot about improving the life of people and about giving them meaningful experiences. I try to diminish the stress that is so commonly present at work and to make sure that people interact more and differently. With my designs I try to make it possible to create new landscapes on an office floor so the new office becomes ever more lively and fresh.

— At Buzzispace it is all about happy and healthy workspaces. This means caring for workers and contributing to a pleasant working environment. Acoustics, lighting and different furniture setups all influence personal well-being. They contribute to a positive workspace. On both the first and 10th floor of the Merchandise Mart at Neocon 2017, Buzzispace will realize its comprehensive approach to design for happy, healthy living, incorporating a range of furniture products, and serious acoustic solutions. Discover what happy and healthy workspaces mean to our designers and how they incorporate it in their designs for Buzzispace!

SAS ADRIAENSSENS

A happy and healthy workspace for me is a place that breathes coziness, where music is playing and where nature and color are integrated in the interior design. In my Buzzispace designs, I always try to create a cozy feeling and I often use decorative elements. I don't like cold workplaces. By using Buzzifelt in my designs I create a gentle and warm atmosphere.

13&9 DESIGN

The new workspace is about reassuring people and giving them the chance to interact.

GERD COUCK-HUYT

For us, a happy workplace is a place where you feel at home.

To me, a happy and healthy workspace is a place that takes into account the diversity of humans.

— Every employee has individual needs that you should consider as a designer. One person can be more productive with the sound of music in the background, while it can be disturbing to another person. Therefore good acoustics is very important in the workplace. Also, certain colors, materials and good lighting can provide a relaxed sense of well-being. As a designer, you should also ensure that the workplace is organized so that there is sufficient interaction and communication among employees and that they can clear their head easily with a short break. I'm convinced that if an employer takes into account all of these elements, sick leave will decrease significantly.

13&9 DESIGN

— We design furniture with our recognizable signature: playful, crafty, with an eye for detail and a lot of colors. These designs should not only look good but, above all, be comfortable and appeal to a cozy feel. The BuzziCane with handcrafted wood, classic webbing and comfortable cushions is a nice example.

— The popular open-office model connects workers. But, at the same time, noise can be a challenge. In the above picture of the Volkswagen offices in Germany, the designers chose three BuzziSpace products to create quiet, private places to work and meet: BuzziVille, BuzziScreen, and BuzziCube.

— Disconnect for 10 minutes, have your lunch or get together for an informal talk at the coffee machine. Fun furniture, acoustic solutions, and good lighting are crucial elements to create cozy corners. Pictured left, our office in the Netherlands paired BuzziShade above BuzziPicNic High and BuzziMilk to improve the high-pitched sounds of people talking, drinking, and eating.

— Inspiration for happy & healthy workspaces

— The meeting room is a typical example where the right furniture, lighting, and acoustics are necessary to make conversation between participants clear and pleasant. In this example of Realyys, the designers chose a black wooden table top of BuzziPicNic to add atmosphere. This large table can be used for meetings but is also perfectly suitable for co-working. Thanks to the highly acoustically performant BuzziGrid suspended from the ceiling, this meeting room is also well-balanced and ensures perfect speech intelligibility.

— The hotel or office lobby is the spot where people gather. To ensure privacy at the welcome desk and in the waiting areas, this very noisy and multifunctional space requires specific acoustic care and an adequate lighting experience. Create a private, quiet corner thanks to the BuzziHub and BuzziHub table where guests can disconnect to work or have a moment of relaxation.

— Motivate your employees or guests to move more with BuzziBalance. This product family offers both a seating and standing element. It brings people together, providing joy and conversation.

BuzziTrihex

The original round table has been re-thought in its simplicity. Tuning the outlines and bringing in soft edges results in a distinctive design language which makes BuzziTrihex unique. Available in two sizes, one rounded and the other rectangular, the table can fit up to nine guests. Design by 13&9
